MILES AND SHAFTER

Expected to Meet Today and Talk Over Old Times—General Shafter Proud of His Soldiers.

General Miles Will Go to Washington as Soon as He Can—
There Will Be No Trouble Between Him and Alger.

New York, Sept. 6.—The transport bearing General Miles and the sick from Porto Rico has been sighted this afternoon. The Ensign is at half mast, which signifies that an officer is dead.

LOOKING FOR MILES.
Expected to Land at New York City Today.

New York, Sept. 6.—General Miles is expected to reach this city on the Oldham this afternoon. He will go at once to camp Wikoff at Point Montauk.

New York, Sept. 6.—Gen. Miles and Shafter will meet today and exchange experiences. Gen. Miles is due to arrive today from Porto Rico, and he will remain in the detention camp for a short time.

Gen. Shafter is able to walk around the camp today and cheer up the despondent soldiers, where he expects to find it, where it was so hastily made and equipped for such a large number of soldiers.

Gen. Shafter is proud of his men, and never gets tired of praising them for their bravery at Santiago. To an old friend who called yesterday he said: "Those heroes out there reserve everything good that can be said of them, for you can have no idea of how gallantly they behaved under a strong Spanish fire from a great fortified position, while they were fighting nearly always in the open, so anxious were they to move down the army of the enemy."

Gen. Shafter hopes to be able to go to Washington today or tomorrow and then take a rest soon afterward. He is looking the worse for his vigorous campaign in Cuba, and has suffered from the heat and rains in Cuba as well as his boys.

Gen. Miles will not tarry longer than is absolutely necessary. He will go to Washington, and if he can be spared, will go for a few days' vacation where he can rest. He has stood his trip to Cuba, thence to Porto Rico, well, and if he has not succumbed to fever on the voyage up will look as handsome and healthy as ever when he arrives.

It is not thought here that anything will come of the much-talked-of row between Miles and Alger.
Those in position to be acquainted with the facts in the case think Miles will give the lie to the alleged interviews with him, or show that what he has said has been misstated, and that this will end the alleged sensation which the yellow journals have been looking forward to with so much glee.

Druggists will say they sell more Plantation Chill Cure than all others.

A New Orleans Man Commits Murder and Ends Up With Suicide—Jealousy Was the Cause.

New York, Sept. 6.—This city is greatly excited over another murder mystery. Poisoned whiskey was sent to a family named Hills and drunk by three members. Mr. Hills' sister-in-law, Miss Conley, and the two other persons are dead. The whiskey was sent to them through the mail and marked from a friend.
There is absolutely no clue to the senders.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

New Orleans, Sept. 6.—Watchman Jesse Williams shot and killed his and then killed himself. The cause of the double crime was jealousy.

LOUISVILLE UNEASY.

But It Is Not Believed the Suspicious Case of Yellow Fever.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 6.—It is not believed that the suspicious case here in quarantine is yellow fever.
There is some uneasiness over the reports, but the cases are under strict guard.

NOT SO ALARMING

Is the Condition of the Camp at Chickamauga, Says Gov. Bradley.

The Hospital Trains Have Returned With the Sick Kentucky Soldiers.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 6.—The Chickamauga hospital trains arrived here Sunday in charge of Governor Bradley, Adjutant General Collier, Chief Surgeon James and a corps of nurses and assistants. There were 53 sick soldiers on board the train when it left Camp Thomas, but nearly all of these had been taken to their homes and only two were left in this place.

The governor and Surgeon James both condemned Camp Thomas, so far as natural conditions are concerned, and say it is unsuited for that use, but do not credit many of the charges of neglect. They are found in their prison of the Letter and Stenberg hospitals.

Mr. James said that while the Kentucky train brought back only 53 men, there are still in camp fully that many more, who he is satisfied are verging on an attack of malarial fever.

"The trouble," he said, "is due to lack of drainage and also to the fact that the entire camp has been used as a general dump near the camp, where all the garbage and refuse of the camp has been deposited. Generally speaking, however, I did not see anything at Camp Thomas which I would feel justified in criticizing so far as management is concerned."

THE TRAIN AT LEXINGTON.

Governor Bradley Says the Situation Is Not Alarming.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 6.—The special train sent by the state to Chickamauga Friday night to bring home all sick soldiers of the Second Kentucky has returned to Lexington, having aboard 53 soldiers. Twelve men were left here and sent to their homes in the eastern part of the state. The remainder were taken to Frankfort and will be sent to their several homes today. All of the men have typhoid fever, but are doing nicely, except Edward Everidge, of troop A, Kentucky cavalry, who is in a dying condition and had to be carried on a litter from the train to the hospital.

Gov. Bradley said that many of the stories about soldiers being neglected by officers and surgeons at Camp Thomas were very much overdrawn, as far as Kentucky soldiers are concerned. He said the situation there was much better than he had expected to find it and that the terrible stories sent out were made blacker than they really are. The surgeons and nurses in charge of the train spoke very highly of Stenberg and Letter hospitals, and said that the sick men were carefully looked after by competent surgeons.

The Victims Were Coming Home

Cohoes, N. Y., Sept. 6.—An appalling disaster occurred in this city shortly before 8 o'clock last night, when a trolley car of the Troy City Railroad company was struck by the night boat special of the Delaware and Hudson railroad at a crossing at the west end of the Hudson river bridge, which connects this city with Lansingburg, and its load of human freight was hurled into the air.
Eighteen of the thirty-five passengers are dead, and at least ten of the remaining will die.

The victims were returning from a labor day celebration.

Manila, Sept. 6.—From General Aguinaldo's new headquarters at Ma-rebel leader has consolidated the diverse insurrectionary parties in the northeast provinces, thus giving him an additional force of 5,000 men and control over the entire northern end of Luzon.

He is recruiting troops and building intrenchments, declaring all the time that he is only getting ready to fight the Spaniards, if the islands are given up to Spain, and that he is willing to disarm his men if the United States will guarantee permanent protection.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

Matters That Will Come Before the Council—No Free Fer-riage—The New Telephone Franchise.

The Council to Begin Sewerage Legislation—No Compulsion Will Be Used to Get Sewers Tapped.

The city council will meet tonight to hold its regular meeting, deferred from last night. There is a great deal of important business to come up before it, among which is the matter of a new telephone franchise.
It is said that the committee is opposed to granting one, one reason being that there are enough poles in the city now.

There is also to be introduced an ordinance providing for tapping the sewers. It does not require anyone to tap the sewers when they are finished, but simply prescribes the method.

A member of the sewerage committee stated this morning that it was his opinion that about three-fourths of the citizens of Paducah want to tap the sewers as soon as possible, and are only waiting for authority.
He also said that in his opinion there would be passed by the council no ordinance making it imperative to tap the sewers. He said that such an ordinance would be necessary at some future time, but he did not think that it was advisable to pass it so soon after the citizens have to pay for the sewerage itself. He wants to give them all more time. He said that this was the opinion of the entire committee, and that the ordinance alluded to may not be passed for two years.

The matter of free ferriage will also come up. A committee was appointed at the last meeting of the council to consider the matter, and it is understood that nothing will be done in this connection. The committee's report will be immaterial. Mayor Lang, while claiming to be a free ferriage man, says that under the charter, all expenditures by the council have to be provided for in the annual levy, and none has been made in this year's levy for ferriage, and consequently none can be provided by the city. The most feasible plan, according to the mayor, would be to employ the Messrs. Owen to run the ferries. At any rate there will be no free ferriage this year.

There is to be introduced in the council tonight for the first time, an ordinance making it unlawful for a man to solicit trade on the streets of Paducah for any store, or other establishment, without first paying a license. The license is fixed pretty high, it is understood, at about $50.
This is to rid the city of the class of men who are sometimes known as "hookers." There are not as many now as there used to be.

Tonight Officer Mike Dugan, of the night force, will be appointed to succeed Officer Tom Orr, of the day force, the appointment to take effect today. Mr. Dugan went to work today. He has been on the night force for several months past, and has made an excellent officer. He was next in line of promotion, and received the appointment on this account.

Officer Dugan's place on the night force will probably be filled by Mr.
Bob McCann, formerly yardmaster at the union depot, who has lately been doing special police work.

Mayor Lang today received at his office a handsome life-size portrait of ex-Mayor Johnson, which will be hung in the council chamber with those of the other ex-mayors. It is an excellent likeness of Mr. Johnson.

City Attorney Lightfoot, who has been ill for several days past from an attack of malaria, was out today, and will be at the council meeting tonight.

There are a number of spurious half-dollars in the city, but by whom they were passed is unknown.
Marshal Collins has heard of a number of them, but has been unable to get any clue to the identity of those passing them until this morning, when a white man with sore eyes went into Mr. Dabney Anderson's grocery on South Third street, and bought five cents worth of tobacco. He tendered in payment a half dollar that looked a little peculiar to Mrs. Anderson, who sent it over to a neighbor to ascertain if it was genuine. Finding that it was not, the matter was at once reported to Marshal Collins, who soon had under arrest two suspects, one of whom gave the name of Fred Meyer, of Springfield, Ill., and the other that of John Douglas, who came from New Orleans. Both men, when locked up, told Lockup Keeper Menfee that they had no home, but were wanderers.

Marshal Collins says all the counterfeit coins found or reported to him, are of good imitation, with more than the ordinary number of stars on the obverse.

Myer does not deny passing the bogus coin on Mrs. Anderson, but to Marshal Collins this afternoon claimed that he did not know that it was counterfeit. He will be held for investigation.

Myer looks like he might have recently been discharged from the penitentiary. He has on penitentiary shoes, and is a pretty tough looking character.

There were several counterfeit half dollars passed on street car conductors yesterday, one being passed on Ed Long. He attempted to identify the man, but could not remember whether they had been on his car or not.

SAD SUICIDE THIS MORNING.

Mrs. Maude Hall Ends Her Young Life by a Dose of Lau-dum—Lived 12 Hours
After Taking It.

Domestic Trouble Is Supposed to Have Prompted Her to Commit the Deed—Was Formerly Miss Maude Burch.

A young life was ended this morning at 5:15 o'clock when Mrs. John Hall, formerly Miss Maude Burch, died from a dose of laudanum, taken, it is believed, with suicidal intent, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Burch, who keep the West Broadway house at Broadway and the railroad intersection.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Hall secured the horse and phaeton, and started down town. It was during the rain, and the family attempted to dissuade her from her purpose, but she insisted that she had important business and went, despite rain and remonstrance.

Going to a drug store not far away she purchased a ounce of laudanum and when asked what she wanted with so much, replied that she wanted it for bowel trouble. Nothing was said to excite the suspicion of the druggist, and she was sold the deadly drug.

After reaching home, she shut the door to a small room and took half the bottle of medicine in a glass. She was seen by her mother, who observing the empty glass, asked her what she had taken, and the reply was, "Chamberlain's Colic Remedy." As she had been complaining of pains in the stomach that afternoon, her statement was readily believed. She laid down and her mother afterwards returned to the room and asked her how she felt, but she gently asked her to "go out."

It was about 6:30 o'clock that she was seen with the glass, and about 10 o'clock her husband went to the room to advise her to move away from the window, through which was coming a draft. He could not arouse her, and in alarm, physicians were summoned.

In a short time Drs. Murrell, Stewart and Kubanks were there, and did all in their power to save her life, but in vain. She never regained consciousness and died about 5:15 o'clock.

It is thought that the case is undoubtedly one of suicide. Mrs.
Hall had been weeping from some unknown cause during the afternoon, and seemed very much depressed in spirits. If she had any domestic dissatisfactions, they were not known to be of a serious nature. She had said sometime ago, however, that there had to be a change in her life, or she could no longer stand to live, as she was miserable, but no cause was assigned.

The life of Mrs. Hall might have been saved had she not taken the pre-

STATEMENT OF CIRCULATION.

We, the undersigned, respectively the Manager, the Circulator and the Pressman of the Paducah Daily Sun, do state that the average circulation of the Paducah Daily Sun for the twelve months ending July 31, 1895, was (1545) Fifteen Hundred and Forty-five.

At E. YOUNG, Manager.

S. A. HILL, Circulator.

Ed T. WETHERINGTON, Pressman.

The above was subscribed and sworn to before me this 15th day of August, 1895.

W. F. PAXTON, Notary Public.

My commission expires January 22, 1902.

SHALL WE HAVE A FAIR?

It is quite possible that the most important subject now before the business men of Paducah, is that of holding a fall meeting of the fair association. The idea has gone abroad that Paducah is to have no fair this fall and the report has already had a damaging effect. Were it not true, it would seem impossible that the business men of Paducah could contemplate for a moment the selfish policy of allowing the year to go by without a fair. But such a course has been proposed and simply because the directors of the fair association have realized, to their financial loss, that the business men of Paducah have not in the past done their share in making the fair a success.

Paducah has the making of a great city. We have all the natural advantages that are necessary to bring population and commercial prosperity. Paducah's weak point is a lack of public spirit, and this lack is in no way better shown than in the fact that the fair association has not met with the proper support. We do not cost of which was $37,000. The building was located on West Broadway a considerable distance from the city, as it was anticipated it would be a place of learning for years to come. What were the facts in connection therewith? The building was not entirely completed before it was condemned as unsafe, all the money had been spent and the building remained there an eyesore to Paducahans for twenty-three years. History is about to repeat itself on that same lot. There is being erected a building that will cost over $50,000 when completed. If half that is heard on the streets is true there has been more chicanery practiced in connection with the erection of this building than on any building ever erected in this city. The school board has some good business men among its members and the wonder is why they have not had their eyes opened so that they can see they are being made cat's paws.

It is expected that the telephone franchise question will come up tonight before the city council. The people of Paducah are waiting to see whether the council is going to act contrary to the best interests of the people of Paducah and contrary to wishes of the large number of housekeepers and business men who have pledged themselves to subscribe for the new telephone when the new company gets into operation. The question is a serious and far reaching one. It is not merely one of granting a franchise at the present time to a competitive company, but the council must also settle once for all the fundamental principle whether it is to stand between the people and lower prices. There is another view of the question. A new company will give additional employment to a number of persons. It will increase the pay rolls of the city, and will in that way be a most beneficial affair. Let the council take action tonight, and let it be on the side of the people.

Our own Charley Wheeler told the people yesterday at Smithland that he was in favor of the Goebel election law to keep "those infernal republicans" from stealing the state. "Those infernal republicans" will please bear that remark in mind when in the election booth stamping their ballot.

The poor old Evening News has completely lost its bearings. Some one should kindly bring the poor thing in out of the dark. It is supposed to be for Wheeler and the Goebel election law, but it seems to have lost its tongue and is as much of a political enigma as ever.

As far as we can learn Mr. Charles K. Wheeler is the only man in the First congressional district who is for the Goebel election law. Perhaps he thinks that he will need the law to get counted in after the next election.

It is really too bad for Bud Reeves to keep bringing up the Goebel election law. That is a very tender point with Mr. Wheeler just now. It makes him feel so lonesome.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burnett and charming daughters have returned from their summer trip to Toronto and other places.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McGary and Miss Geraldine Sanders have returned from Cincinnati, where they spent several days.

A certain young ladies' man was deeply chagrined the night of the cake walk by the introduction he received at the hands of another young man. The victim of the joke is always eager to meet all the visitors who come here, and on Saturday asked a friend who works at a Broadway clothing store, with whom he was going to appear at the cake walk. The latter was reluctant to tell, but promised to divulge the secret that afternoon. That afternoon he was around impatiently awaiting the pleasant news. The other young man then told him it was a young lady from Cairo, prominent in society, and gave the name of a well known young lady there. Nothing would do but that he should meet her. He made an engagement with the practical joke to meet him at the La Salle park theater that night and meet the young lady, and needless to say, he was there on time, and insisted on going into the wings before the cake walk to be introduced. He was led back, and "knocked down" to a young lady, as he supposed, blacked up for the walk. He remained there conversing with her for a little while, and then was horrified to see her boat her skirts and execute the skirt dance. The young society lady from Cairo proved to be Maude Nash, who was the young man's partner for the walk.

Speaking of hats, all the latest styles, according to a competent authority, all turn back from the face. They are decidedly picturesque, and of the sixteenth and seventeenth century styles—plumes and buckles, and rich velvets and broadsides. One hat has a red velvet shirred crown with jet trim caught back at the side front with a cut steel buckle, and holding two fancy curled quills. Other hats with jet trim hold ostrich tips, fastened with jet steel or rhinestone buckles. Shirred and curled velvet crowns in colors and jet trim seem to be a special feature of fall millinery. A dainty and stunning hat—if these two words can go together—is a crown of white duchess satin with soft folded trim of castor-colored velvet, and steel buckle holding two fancy curled quills of white and peacock shades.

Another hat has a jet crown with brim and standing loops of geranium red velvet—standing in all directions—caught in the center with daggers having pearl and rhinestone hilts. This geranium red is a new shade, brilliant yet softened into a pinkish light. It is the prettiest red we have had in a long time. It is prettier than the autumn red we have been wearing all summer, and that sounds almost like treason. You must know it is superb, though the artillery red and cavalry yellow still hold their own, but these two colors are so much more becoming to brunettes and blondes. Geranium red can be worn by one as well as the other.

Miss Flossie Owen will give a dance on board the Bettie Owen Wednesday night to which quite a number of the younger set have been invited. The large crowd is expected, and the event will no doubt be one of the pleasantest of the year.

Miss Marjorie Crumbaugh left this morning for Nashville to enter Price's college.

Miss Adah Enders, who has been visiting in Smithland for several weeks past, returned home this morning.

GAS COMPANY AT FULTON.

The Little Town Below is on the Boom.

Fulton, Ky., is on the boom, judging from the papers, and is now threatened with a gas company. The proposed company is a home company strictly. It is made up of Fulton people and has Fulton capital back of it. Mr. Chas. Gregory appeared before the city council last night and asked that they grant him a franchise to establish a gas plant in Fulton.

In addition, the I. C. railroad company having appropriated $50,000, to be spent at Fulton, will give that town new life and vigor such as it never enjoyed before. One piece of property in value sold less than 10 days since has advanced four hundred dollars.

DANTE'S INFERNO.

Striking Illustrations Produced by Old Mosiah Copyists.

Next to the Bible, no book has passed through as many editions, has been more thought over and worked over, than Dante's "Divine Comedy," says the Kansas City Journal.

During the middle ages it stood side by side with the Bible in the libraries of the monks and was copied and recopied by their tireless fingers and illuminated by their artistic skill.

It is easy to explain this monastic devotion when we know that Dante wrote his great poems in the faith that the history of the world had been directed from the beginning toward the redemption of the elect. The Roman empire was foreordained and established for this end; it was to prepare the way for the establishment of the Roman church.

Is it any wonder, then, that the monks were eager to illustrate his graphic descriptions, especially of the inferno, and hold them up for the delight (?) of the world.

A learned German, Prof. Ludwig Volkman, has just made a careful search among the manuscripts molding in the libraries of Europe, bringing to light many strange and striking illustrations accompanying Dante's works as copied by the old monks.

In the library of the Vatican Prof. Volkman found a picture accompanying the twelfth canto of the inferno, in which the Centaur Nessus, Virgil, Dante's guide through the lower regions and Dante himself appear. This is Dante's description:

"On with the trusty escort moved we. Along the crimson belt's edge. They hailed the Centaur's shaggy hide. I drew I drew I drew I drew. And the great Centaur said: 'Here weep they their pitiful offenses. Here Alexander and that cruel Dionysus. Who caused to their most cruel years. Then turned to the poet. Said he, 'Let him now be first and I second.'"

"Farther along the Centaur stopped. Above some leading to the throat. Out of that hellish dream. Then saw I folk holding above the tide. Their heads, even their chests. Thus more and more shallow grew the blood. Till it cooked only the feet."

In the national library at Paris was discovered a manuscript written in the fourteenth century, and in it a scene from hell, corresponding only to the general terror of the "Inferno." In it the devils stand on a mountain in the background and draw the sinners to them by ropes and throw them into the pool. In the foreground a devil crowds the souls—among them a king and a bishop—into a kettle with his pitchfork, and near him a monster drives a nail into some sinner's breast. On the other side is a huge kettle in which the damned—among them an emperor and a pope—are boiled. High up sits Lucifer, a six-armed, horned devil, with a trident in one hand.

A frightful picture of the serpent's attacking a sinner is found in a manuscript in the royal library at Dresden, having a red tint in the original, giving it a hellish glare. Dante and his guide, Virgil, are up on a rock watching the scene, described in canto XXV.

An illustration of Cerberus and the "hell hounds," taken from a unique manuscript in the Vatican library, written early in the fifteenth century, is also a remarkable piece of monastic art. The clouds, ice and water are all depicted with infinite care and according to Dante's vision:

"When that great worm Cerberus saw us. Wide opened he his mouth and showed his fangs. No limit of his did he keep quiet. My leader, opening wide his hands, took care. And with full teeth threw it into the ravenous throat. As the dog that barking craves it quiet when he finds his food he takes. And is intent and lights only to devour it. Such because those filthy fangs of demon Cerberus. So thundering at the noise. That they would fain be deaf."

THE WORK OF THE DIVER.

Is an Exceedingly Unhealthy and Dangerous Calling.

The diving suit in which men work beneath the surface of the water is probably the most curious looking apparatus that can be devised. It consists of a huge helmet, thick rubber clothing, even to gloves of the same material, and heavy rubber boots with leaden soles. The weight of the boot is necessary to counterbalance the weight of the helmet, otherwise the diver might not be able to maintain a perpendicular position in the water. Air is supplied to the diver by a flexible tube, which is lined with coils of steel wire to resist the pressure of water at great depths and also to prevent the supply of air being cut off in case the tube should be accidentally jammed between two pieces of woodwork in a sunken ship. Air is forced down the tubes by means of a pump and the diver carries a signal line by which he intimates to his assistants on the surface the proper time for drawing him up. Divers cannot descend to a greater depth than 100 to 200 feet, and even at these depths suffer greatly from the pressure of the water. The work is very unhealthy, exceedingly dangerous, and cannot be followed long without risk of hemorrhage of the lungs or rupture of blood vessels in the vital organs.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Wealth of the Nations.

The United States is the wealthiest country on the globe. In 1889 Mull estimated that its wealth was $13,000,000,000, or $65,000,000,000, while that of Great Britain was $2,500,000,000, or $12,500,000,000. The wealth of France was estimated at $8,500,000,000, or $42,500,000,000; Germany, $5,500,000,000, or $27,500,000,000; Russia, $3,500,000,000, or $17,500,000,000; Austria, $1,500,000,000, or $7,500,000,000; Italy, $1,000,000,000, or $5,000,000,000; Spain, $500,000,000, or $2,500,000,000.

"It is of course evident to the unprejudiced reader that the traditional account which has come down to us of the war between Spain and the United States has suffered at the hands of interested redactors. As it appears in what purports to be the official record, the naval battles of Manila and Santiago resulted in the destruction of two entire Spanish fleets, embracing a dozen of the finest ironclads afloat, with the loss of but one killed upon the American side and three wounded. This is so absurd upon the face of it that it must at once be rejected. But when we remember that at the time the engagement outside Santiago was fought, with the reported death of one man as the only fatality on the American fleet, the American army lost 1,800 on shore, then the critical historian does not need to dispute the fiction but only to search for the sources of it. Battles at sea have always been far more destructive of life than those on land, that between Lord Howe and Admiral Ushant, 100 years before, having cost over 8,000 marines. We know therefore that the account of these engagements at Manila and Santiago have no historic verity whatever, but have either been retouched in the interests of the navy,

We know therefore that the account of these engagements at Manila and Santiago have no historic verity whatever, but have either been retouched in the interests of the navy, or were from the first manufactured by persons engaged in the construction and sale of ironclads. Indeed official dispatches from both of the places to the Spanish capital, Madrid, have been found, with contemporary dates, denying practically than any such engagement took place. Gov. Gen. Blanco says in just so many words that 'Cervera made a sortie from the harbor and escaped.' However that may be, it is simply impossible that ten or fifteen men-of-war, most of them armored with iron and steel plates, could have been sunk, and hundreds of Spaniards killed with thousands taken prisoners, and the American fleet would have been 'two killed and three wounded.' Interested motives lie at the bottom of such a report as that, and strongly as the tradition has been maintained, it must be rejected in toto as not only impossible, but absurd. Even the Books of Kings, in the Bible, with all their wretched confusion of numbers, contain nothing so palpably fictitious as that." The priestly redactor who in his books of "Chronicles" falsified the earlier history in the interest of his caste was modest in comparison with this spattered historian of the American Navy.—Chicago Interior.

EXCURSION TO CAIRO

For the Battleship Kentucky, Silver Service.

An excursion will be given to Cairo Thursday morning on the Dick Fowler for the benefit of the Kentucky battleship silver service. It is well known that Kentucky is going to furnish a silver service for the splendid battleship which has been named after our state. This service will cost $10,000. Subscriptions have been asked for from the people of this state by the state commissioners having the matter in charge.

It has occurred to some of the ladies of Paducah that a good way to raise a portion of the amount that ought to be subscribed in this city, would be by means of an excursion. Hence the ladies' societies of this city have appointed committees which will have the excursion in charge. This is a most laudable and patriotic cause. Let the excursion be well patronized and Paducah will thus make a most liberal subscription.

The Dick Fowler will leave Thursday at 8 a. m., returning at 10 p. m. Fair for round trip 50c and children 25c. Remember the day and let everybody go.

THE SHOW AT LA BELLE.

The show for this week at La Belle park is what is called in common parlance, a cracker jack, for it is without a doubt the best vaudeville show ever seen in Paducah.

Little Maud Kramer, very properly named in the advertisements as the child wonder, is the finest book and wing dancer ever seen, and her singing and artistic abilities, would do credit to many a performer twice her age.

The return of Hill and Edwards, the Paducah favorites, after a three years absence, was a very happy bit of the management. They were well received last night and had to answer many encores. Bragg and Ashton are artists of a different type, but equally as good in their line as any who have played this famous resort this season. Altogether it is the finest vaudeville show ever seen south of the Mason and Dixon line. There will be no charge in the program until Thursday night.

SCHOOL BOARD.

There Will be a Meeting Tonight—Very Interesting.

The board of education will meet tonight in regular session, and there are many things of public interest to be considered.

A successor to Miss Fiehl, the music teacher who resigned, will be chosen at this meeting, and all final arrangements for the opening of school will be completed.

In addition, the new school house will be discussed. The only question, seemingly, to be decided is whether or not any of the work is to be done over again. The responsibility is immaterial, as the work previously done was under the supervision of the building committee, and superintendent, and when completed was formally accepted and paid for by the board. Hence if any of it was wrong or defective, it is the fault of no one except the board, and the latter has no redress.

DECKS FLOODED.

Accident to the Battleship Iowa in the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

New York, Sept. 6.—Nothing could be learned as to the extent of the damage to the battleship Iowa Sunday night by the flooding of the engine rooms.

It was reported that the engine rooms of the Iowa were partly flooded by the entrance of water through an open sea cock or sea cocks as the ship was being floated. As near as could be learned from the stories about last night, the officials got ready to float the Iowa in the dry dock, where she had been for the last three or four days, and the valves in the casement at the end of the dry dock were opened. The water poured in through the valves, and at least one of the sea cocks or injection valves in the Iowa's hull was either open or insecurely fastened, so that the force from the outside pushed the cock valve back and the water gushed into the hull of the vessel.

ELECTRICITY UNDER WATER.

The Sly Submarine Boat "Holland" Managed by Only Five Men.

The oddest of new applications of electricity are the uses to which it is turned under water in the operation of the "Holland" submarine boat.

The "Holland" does not need much to make her a very ugly customer for an enemy to be approached by. She can practically skim along under the surface of the water without being visible, while a small tube, carrying at its top an inclined mirror or prism, in the manner of the camera lucida, will throw a picture of the surrounding waters upon a board in the conning tower. In making an attack the boat would advance, with simply her conning tower above water, until she was within range for the use of her aerial torpedo gun. A shell containing 100 pounds of gun cotton would be discharged, and she would at once sink out of sight to escape retaliation. At the moment of discharge a system of compensating weights would admit to the tank a sufficient amount of water to preserve the trim of the vessel. When the boat had run up a little nearer to the hostile ship, she would discharge one, and if the first missed, two or her torpedoes. In the unlikely event of missing with the bow torpedo she would fire her rear torpedo gun. The enemy as it swept by overhead. The boat is about 66 feet long, has a crew of five men, and room for 20 dynamite shells. Her chief value is in her ability to fire her guns while submerged. Her aft gun can discharge an 80-pound shell 800 yards under water with a high velocity. Her normal speed is nine knots an hour for six hours, although she can speed up to 12 knots for short periods of time. Current for her propulsion is supplied from a storage battery of 60 chloride accumulators, which are built solidly into one compartment, 15 feet long, six feet wide and 30 inches high. The total battery weight is 45,000 pounds. The batteries are charged by means of gasoline engine and dynamo set. Should the boat be running on the surface, the gasoline engine can operate it for 1,000 miles at eight knots an hour with the amount of fuel carried. The normal capacity of the dynamo is 50 horse-power; it weighs 3,500 pounds, and its armature speed is 800 revolutions per minute. The "Holland" also has a ten horse-power motor for running a seven horse-power air compressor. This motor is also used to operate a bilge pump. A one-half horse-power motor ventilates the boat while submerged, by forcing the foul air into the water, its place being taken by fresh air from the reservoirs which are fed by the compressor. Another one-half horse-power motor is used to ventilate the storage battery compartment by means of a fan in the lower part of the battery fumes during charging.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.
